

Nomination Proposal as Honorary Member posthumously: Ian Hocking

Ian Hocking was both a qualified architect and a planner – and was able to integrate heritage, architecture, urban design, planning and social planning in his work.

He had been a long time member of CIVVIH Executive and had participated in many if not all of its annual meetings since he joined the Committee. He was a wonderful and generous mentor to his Australian colleagues within CIVVIH.

Having in mind the content of the attached document, prepared by Australian colleagues, which better describes Ian's professional career and contribution to CIVVIH, very respectfully, we recommend the Committee to award the title of Honorary Member of CIVVIH posthumously to our beloved colleague Ian Hocking.
